VOLUNTEER INFORMATION OFFICER PROGRAM

SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA, COUNTY OF ALAMEDA

PROGRAM HISTORY

In 1998, the Superior Court worked with residents of Alameda County to develop a Community Focused Strategic Plan. Among other proposals, this plan called for the Court to provide better information services at each court location. To reach this goal, the Court created its Volunteer Information Officer Program.

This program not only allows the Court to provide better service to the public, but also lets the public show their support for the Court. Today we have approximately forty volunteers serving the public at five locations: two in Oakland, and one each in Hayward, Dublin, and Fremont.

OUR VOLUNTEERS

The diversity of our volunteers is one of the greatest strengths of our program. While our volunteers come from varied cultures and locations throughout Alameda County, they all have one thing in common: a desire to give back to their community.

Once accepted to the program, Volunteer Information Officers answer questions from the public, help the Court run smoothly, and foster a spirit of community service and civic participation.

Volunteers Wanted!

- Do you enjoy working with the public?
- Are you patient and understanding?
- Do you have a passion for justice and community service?

If so...

Apply to join the Superior Court of Alameda County's Volunteer Information Officer Program!

- Flexible hours
- Fulfilling work
- Give back to the community

Not only do I gain court knowledge and experience, but giving back to the community is so rewarding.
